

The Proxy War Against A People Unknown

Opening — I Understand I understand. I understand how we got here... and I understand why most people don't even see it. We're watching the markets fall... wars everywhere... rumors of more wars... But nobody is asking the real question:

Who benefits from all of it? While all this is happening... You got people claiming heritage they never lived, while the real ones are being pushed out, silenced, or destroyed.

Our own people... took oaths... pledged allegiance... signed into systems they don't even understand... And now?

They feed those same systems. Not always with bullets... Sometimes with paperwork. Sometimes with silence. Sometimes by turning on their own. "This wasn't random... this was organized." What I present in this book you can go on the dbnft.ai look in the court records and see for yourself my life in plain sight, how I avoided the matrix got out and chose to live peacefully wealthy whole not compromising myself nor following others just simply living.

With this frame of mind you will lose friends, family members will call you crazy, they won't understand the mindset of not working for a Vampire parasitical system and participating in the various systems that enslave, rape, pillage, rob, molest, and control majority of the people in this society, I don't blame them for choosing the lower vibrational living wage but I will not participate, nor will I acknowledge their so called successes because being controlled as a slave gaining recognition and riches deserves no attention especially when you're the servants to the very society your ancestors created but was murdered off, killed, isolated destroyed by public officials, COPS programs with various tactics to incriminate or appear to incriminate slander defame make libel and those in the game of life, those whom chose to stay back as slaves, those whom do not know their history are controlled and participating in the vampire system that destroys them and keeps them alive for feeding only on the dead in mind, these are people like you possibly reading this book my book my body of work well at least one of them.

Chapter 1 — The Hidden Mask

How did we get here? Let me take you back. Legal Framing Section “Under 12 U.S.C. § 1843, bank holding companies are restricted from engaging in non-banking activities unless those activities are closely related to banking and properly authorized.

Before Las Vegas... Before the chaos... Before the threats... There was California. But before California... Detroit. The First Fire. Our home burned down.

Not random. Detroit Edison had been dealing with broken transformers behind the house for years. Power outages... instability... Then one day everything gone. But we didn't fold. We rebuilt. We built a studio. We invested in ourselves. Music. Clothing. Ownership. Then we traveled. Italy. France. Switzerland. We saw the banks. We saw the systems. And we asked: “Why don't we have this?” “Why is our community stuck?” That question alone... will get you targeted. The Move to California We landed at: 4203 Norval Ave — Quartz Hill, California Corner house. Studio in motion. Dream alive. But success comes with attention. And attention brings watchers. Neighbors calling police for no reason.

False complaints. Sabotage. Not because we were failing... because we were independent. The Pattern Starts “When you don't need the system... the system starts watching you.” The Contract — The Door Opens Now here's where it shifts. We decided to sell the property. So we brought in someone to help. Her name: Cristina Ortega Not an owner. Not a decision-maker. Just a finder. And we have the paperwork to prove it:

The agreement was clear: She would market the property Find a buyer Respect privacy And most important: She was NOT representing us as an agent She had NO ownership authority. The Line That Matters “She had access... but not control.” But access... is all they needed. The Switch At first, everything was normal. Professional. Business. Then came the call. She was crying. Shaking. Apologizing. “I'm so sorry...

I know I was supposed to sell your house...” That was real. That was human. Then... something changed. Mid-sentence. Mid-energy. Like someone flipped a switch. Her tone dropped. Her voice hardened. and she said: “You are enemies of powerful people... they are going to destroy you... they are going to take everything from you.” Then she laughed. Not normal laughter. Something else. The Realization That's when I knew. This wasn't about real estate anymore. The Setup Because right after that things started happening. New ownership claims Banks appearing out of nowhere Documents we never signed Entities we never agreed to All connected to one moment: when access was granted

The Truth “They didn't break in... they were let in.” The Parallel Life While this was happening... we moved to Las Vegas. Not for luxury. For family. For care. We left behind: 18 years in California a built foundation stability For what looked like opportunity... but wasn't. sure Move, loft, tow incident, missing items, first signal of pattern. Flooding, displacement, repeated disruption, pattern begins. The investment in the Bond with Bear Stearns Disappearing act. In 2007 I invested in a bond, this is simple you can find it on the website dbnft.ai, that went left right away pun intended. The money would create an issues of facts when banks come in and create fictitious documents claiming to own your home they use this scam to steal the bond. In 2010 my godson and I went to Las Vegas to film several music videos.

I was injured on the morning of the shoot, while at the gym 24 hour fitness an employee during a basketball game jumped on my head attempting to block a 3 point shot. He was the maintenance manager playing ball, so at this point I would have to file a claim against the gym, I tried to get an attorney one was recommended by my cohorts family but he would appear at one hearing doing their protocol and then dropped the case, for what reason it didn't make sense why he did so.

Keep in mind I didn't like being pulled into traffic court, especially being aboriginal I noticed I was targeted driving a red convertible coupe. I would defend and not appear id write to the traffic courts and I would win 90% of the time. This seems to ruffle the vampiric system they want you to be submissive and go along with the programs but that bullshit is not for me. I can see your face right now, " what does he mean not for him?" Well not for me, im not one to go along to get along. Especially being a high energy man

Now in 2016 my cohort got a new job after being robbed by her former employer. She and I met with the owner of the clinic and negotiated a salary of $175,000.00 per year the partner a female Albion or Caucasian woman thought that that was too much so she by force and bullying took her back down to $155,000.00 so we thought it would be best to leave that place. After finding out her parents were struggling health wise she asked me if I be okay with her finding something close to them in Las Vegas to help them out, I thought no at first but knowing her she would be too emotional to understand especially when she had a brother living in Las Vegas not far from the parents but somehow we got there.

I was no longer working with the schools with my youth program and I began working at a local warehouse it was painful I have bad knees so standing and lifting was a helluva experience. Painful as it was I couldn't continue the shift changes from working 4am to working 7am to 4pm it was too much. The environment became an issue, when working in the school with my youth program I must have pissed off someone whom had connections so they made sure I didn't come back and not only that they tried to take over my program and that didn't go well for them. The security saw me at the mall and told me how things went down and that would be another chapter but lets say our program news letter exposed some racial tensions treating the children like animals verses like beings. At this point we appear to be a man and woman whom dont want to fit in nor settle for the sake of being accepted thats a control mechanism that enslaves people, shut up go along and get along.

So my cohort got another job offer for more money in las Vegas Nevada about 12 thousand more that what was being made so we said lets go, its adventurous maybe its time to move outta California. But this was strange the day we moved into the lofts that night our SUV was towed away from our own parking space.

The Illusion Better job. More money. New environment. But behind it? pressure disruption argeting Cars being towed first night. Strange activity. Repeated interference. "Everything looked like growth... but it was actually displacement." The Bigger Picture At this point... you start to see it. This isn't random. This is how the system works: Gain access Gather information Create confusion Insert new "authority" Take control And if you resist?

They escalate. "By the time the threat is spoken... the system is already in motion."

CHAPTER 2 — CLEAN EDIT (YOUR VOICE PRESERVED)

Escalation — The Pattern Reveals Itself You don't recognize a proxy war when it starts. Because it doesn't come as war. It comes as: inconvenience confusion "coincidence" Until it keeps happening. The Move to Las Vegas — 2016 My cohort, got a new job opportunity. Better pay. Closer to her parents. We agreed to move to Las Vegas. We arrived at the lofts. That same night... our SUV was gone. Towed. From our own parking space. Management said: "A neighbor reported you parked in their spot." But records showed: it was OUR spot. That's when the first signal hit.

"The first move is never loud... it's always small enough to ignore."

The Break-In When we recovered the vehicle: items missing studio equipment gone personal belongings gone. Not everything taken. Just enough. That's not random. The Pattern Expands We had two lofts: one upstairs one downstairs Months later... the downstairs loft was flooded. From the same neighbor. Water damage: bedroom closet clothing shoes. Now we had to leave. Temporary, they said. But every forced move creates: instability pressure loss of control

"It's not about one event...it's about repeated pressure."

The Bond Back in 2007, I invested in a bond. Later... as these events unfolded... that bond became a target. Because when institutions create false claims... they need something behind it.

"When they can't take directly... they create paperwork to justify taking." The Injury — Another Angle 2010 — Las Vegas. Filming music videos. At the gym. An employee jumped and landed on my head. I filed a claim. Got an attorney. He appeared once... then disappeared. No explanation.

Pattern Again "Every time accountability was introduced... interference followed." System Resistance I didn't move like everyone else. Traffic tickets? I challenged them. Wrote to the courts. And I won. 90% of the time. That creates attention. Because systems expect: compliance, not awareness

"They don't mind participation...they mind understanding." The Job Shift negotiated $175,000 salary Then it was forced down: $155,000 Same work. Less pay. That's pressure. The Move — The Trap We moved anyway. Left: stability foundation long-term position For: higher pay new opportunity But it wasn't gold. It was bait. Final Realization "The move wasn't the mistake... the timing of the move was the setup."

“THE FOUR HORSEMEN”

The Pattern Had a Name At some point... you stop calling it coincidence. You start seeing structure. And once you see structure... you start recognizing symbols. That's when it hit me. This wasn't just pressure... this was stages. And the only way I could describe it was: The Four Horsemen Not in the way people were taught... not fear-based... not end-of-the-world confusion... But as a pattern of how destruction is rolled out.

Horseman One — Entry (Deception) It always starts soft. Friendly. Familiar. A contract. A conversation. A “helper.” Someone like: a broker an agent a representative. That's the entry point. “The first horse doesn't attack... it gains access.” Horseman Two — Conflict (Division) Then comes pressure. arguments confusion accusations miscommunication People turn on each other. Systems don't have to fight you... they get others to do it.

“The second horse doesn't destroy... it divides.” 4 Horse manifested. Three — Loss (Control of Resources) Then comes restriction. money gets tight access gets blocked accounts get questioned assets get touched. Now you're not just dealing with confusion... you're dealing with survival.

“The third horse doesn't chase you... it squeezes you.” 4 Horse manifested Four — Collapse (Removal) Then comes the final stage. Displacement, loss of property forced movement attempted erasure Not always physical death... but removal of position. “The fourth horse doesn't warn you... it clears you out.”

The Real Meaning Now here's where people get it wrong. : Revelation 9, 14, 16 most think: literal destruction random chaos humanity wiped out But what if "humanity" ... is not what they think? My Interpretation (Refined & Clear) "Humanity is not the awakened man or woman. It is the programmed state of being." So when destruction comes... it's not always about people. It's about: systems of thinking, controlled identities, false structures The 200 Million Army (Reframed) That "army" ... doesn't have to be soldiers. It can be: systems workers enforcers participants People moving... without realizing what they're part of. Line That Hits Hard "An army doesn't need to know the mission... it just needs to follow instructions. Bringing It Back to Reality Now go back to what we experienced: the tow the break-in the flooding the pressure. Different angles. Different actors. Same result.

The Connection "Different players... same movement." The Album — "Four Horsemen" That's why the album isn't just music. It's a breakdown. A code. A mirror. Each track... a stage. Each stage... a reality. Closing This Section "Once you understand the pattern... you stop reacting... and start seeing." WHY THIS WORKS

Keeps your spiritual angle Makes it understandable Connects directly to: your life your story your album.

Chapter 3 — The Property and the Paper Trail

California property, trust ownership, conflicting bank claims. Now after we purchased two lofts one for the studio and the other for the living space we got letter from California claiming that someone owned our home after we received a letter from Bank Of America stating that our home was paid in full.

There were no records of a transfer nor a sell it was just someone a bank Chase Bank trying to claim our property. Now this Bank is based out of England. Doing illegal business within the United States and in the Americas. So the twist was crazy. When we filed in California Federal Court with proof their courts when we saw the case was assigned to a judge whom claims to be appointed by their President we noticed his bias. He didn't want a trial by jury nor did he like that we called ourselves Petitioners and not plaintiffs, this is a jurisdiction issue for them. They don't like when you speak up and file documents evidence exhibits, they just want control because when its a Article I court they are not interested in Justice they are Banking and Bankruptcy Courts.

At this point I noticed after filing against the CEO and the bank they have a hit squad, they will sabotage your image and create fake documents claiming that you are not who you say you are. Under inner over stand we as aboriginal beings we like to document and prepare for ourselves this keeps the confusion down. Also knowing that an attorney works for the BAR and they are servants for the Courts first not the men or women this would created issues. Just sit in the gallery and observe make that special appearance and get a copy or make a copy of the hearings or their so called judgments from the judges office.

Chapter 4 — The Lawsuit and System Response

Legal action, Bank of America confirmation, judicial conflict. Bank of America took my side and requested the Judge to recuse himself, the judge in his arrogance and self giving power shot down the motion while through protocol the request for recusal should go through others not the judge him or herself.

Now the matter at hand in their federal court taught me that we should never file into their courts without first filing in our aboriginal indigenous courts first and filing for a foreign judgment, many don't know what that is including judges they are just in position for absorb power from you through fear. When you enter a courtroom you feel an overwhelming force of negativity. Its fear they manifest by colors flags sitting high above you, telling you to rise as if your dead.

Now this matter was simple the court has the evidence we requested the hearing to be done by a jury trial but that never happened. In article I courts they are administrative only banking or bankruptcy courts. Now the facts that BOFA had the actual pay off documents the Defendants didn't have a choice so they ordered in my opinion the judge to dismiss the case and claim that the defendants did nothing wrong now you can find this case online but they changed the caption case number and case itself. Cc 2:18-cv-00882 they claimed this matter was filed February 2, 2018 when it was actually filed in 2016. Notice the defendants a few are not represented nor did they appear or respond only Bank Of America, SPS, and JPMorgan not the CEO.

“The case caption reflected individual names rather than the Trust structure under which the property was held, raising questions about whether the correct legal entity was being addressed.” “Questions arose regarding how multiple defendants were represented, including instances where the same counsel appeared on behalf of several entities, while the role or response status of others remained unclear in the record.” “The Defendant Structure Problem” “The case involved multiple defendants across financial and servicing roles. However, the structure of representation raised several questions.

Certain defendants appeared through shared legal counsel, while the response status of others was not clearly distinguishable in the record. At the same time, one institution was removed early after providing documentation, creating a divergence in positions among the parties. Additionally, the caption of the case reflected individual names rather than the Trust structure that held the property, raising questions about whether the correct entity was being addressed. These factors contributed to a broader issue: difficulty identifying who held actual authority, who was responding, and how responsibility was being assigned within the case.”

When you stand up and defend yourself against foreign corporations banks criminals they then make a proxy war against you your family target you and attempt to force you into failure un alive yourself, or do it. Then they claim someone else did that it wasn't us! Oh really ok well you can see where this started and let me break down the enslavement of aboriginal indigenous peoples and others. You are tricked into taking sides, voting never electing, then you send your children to school, they are tricked into pledging allegiance to a Corporation then the other corporations begin to appear in your lives, when you are in grade school in order to get a job you need a work permit so you send off for a SSN card and a birth certificate, as identifying documents while neither are accurately identifiers at all.

One is an accusation or allegation the birth certificate because mother signed it under duress, she pushed you out, then they took you away then they cleaned you up as a baby then mother rested they gave her some drugs so who knows how much time went by hours... Then they brought a baby back to the birthing mother, she signed the birth certificate and so did the father but no one can truly identify that baby.

Then you go to high school, you get a Diploma now you are deployed to either join the military, or get a job, work, or if you are an athlete you get a scholarship to play sports,.. if you are an artist you then need a license or certification to sell your own art. So thats slavery and thats designed to be voluntary when its deception,... PERIOD!

“Know this “If your eye be single your body will be full of light”

Chapter 5 — The Financial Web & Pattern of Interference

This chapter explores patterns observed across multiple institutions, including banking, insurance, and legal systems. The interactions raised questions about ownership, servicing authority, and accountability. For the past three years [now stopped in its tracks] I couldn't go anywhere without people trying to take advantage of my situation. They would see me as if they knew me and or spoke to someone about me and would smile laugh even, and then proceed to cheat me, for example a moving company in Florida Moving Hunks or College Hunks would quote me a price then hour after moving and I had to help which really didn't make sense because they would send the helpers home cheating his own employees.

The price started at $1500 moving about 10 miles from a storage unit then to the house. They would move then take breaks taking their time but I didn't care because they were not on a clock at least I thought they weren't on the clock around 9pm when they finished the price doubled to $3200 they did little work they broke a $8000 vase and other furniture we had to later throw out and ignored that but insisted that I paid the overtime when they were never on a clock it was a set price with the supervisor and then the 6 boys helping plus me, at 9am they started or was the start time they arrived late around 10am claiming that I gave them the wrong address smh...

A lawyer friend told me whenever your name is on the black web listed as evicted they are going to extort you knowing your situation but caring less for the job and the items. In fact when the workers heard how much more I was being charged they said, they were confused and that the price doubled and they were not getting paid anymore that what they were getting in fact I gave two of the boys gym shoes because the shoes they had on were horrible worn out. When I had a dispute for the moving company in Nevada and requested my refund because they chose not to do the job and that is another book itself as to why, they charged me $4200 deposit they said in their own contract that if they didn't show up and move anything they would refund the deposit and cancel all other costs.

Well they knew the company Champion Movers they were related and they worked out a deal to scam me. So I learned that my bank card was separated from the company VISA itself, so when it put in the dispute the moving company United Movers told the VISA company not the bank that I breached the contract so they were due the $4200.00 and the bank said "we can't do anything about what VISA decided we are not the same as the VISA part. Champion movers tried scamming us right away, so when they stole the property out of the house the company had multiple companies involved of the theft, Nutone Construction, Champion Movers, Aldridge Pite LLP, JIM HASTINGS LTD all played a part and lied claiming that FANNIEMAE was involved but no receipt not proof nothing.

They stole the property the home and then held it at Champion Movers warehouse. The lawyer emailed the Consular Court and the Al Moroccan American Consulate and claimed that FannieMae paid for the move and the storage after their illegal search and seizure theft, When we got the message about three days later Champion Movers said nothing was paid for and that I owed them $14,900.00 for the packing and moving, now I'm pissed lost and confused, FANNIEMAE was the alleged party that stole the items out of the house a multimillion dollar studio film studio clothing company a $11,000.00 iron fence gate $80,000.00 in fur coats hats and leather jackets by my clothing company, etc,... we're talking about NFTs CD covers hard drives etc,... estimated at over $400,000,000.00.

The overlapping of multiple agencies such as the Clerk Recorder, the County Assessor, The Constable whereas the Sergeant Longo stated he had no idea of what was going on and this is recorded. The DA office civil division representative for Debbie Conway dba County recorder Judge Kishner dept 31 Judge Alf dept 27 of the Eighth Judicial District Court and Judge Goodey Justice Court of Las Vegas Dept 6, she had no idea what was going on, she also said in her own pleading that she only signed off on a 24 - 48 window before an eviction took place for some guy whom we now know was JIM Hastings ltd claiming that he was the landlord and we were renting our own home... whom by the way just got elected or put on the bench by some authority just two months before the eviction.

Process of service was approved by these judges that was mailed to a PMB a private mail box never to the home. Wow a proxy war with ability to overrule law and due process of law. Just looking at the paperwork that was never served to a man or woman at the home but only in her court without proof of a automative assignment for court cases she was just chose to carry out the fraud she had no idea what was really going on, go to the Court docket and read for yourself she seemed confused and was backtracking, then she also when we filed for an appeal made and appellate decision claiming we couldn't file an appeal for the illegal search and seizure fake eviction, now that is required by the Appellate Court not the lower courts.

The Attorney General, the Governor, the LVMPD whom said we couldn't make a police report because it was a civil matter but they didn't know we had already made two police reports back in 2019 against JPMorgan Chase and all employees bad actors and Penny Mac FannieMae for the fraudulent paperwork they were sending to a Private Mail Box not our home to our private mail box using Pitney bowes mailing systems. There is no record or evidence that FannieMae was ever involved just someone inside that agency went along with the Proxy War aka do as your told or your next.... Not to mention all the scam artist claiming to be partners and help my NFT company launch while they just stole $15,000.00 built a non working website and never finished the smart contract. This goes on with our own insurance company whom sent a letter claiming we were insured and covered if two or more people was involved in an illegal break in illegal search and seizure robbery etc,.. terrorism etc,... then they reneged by saying "your property was seized by the government or Municipality! And I was like WHAT? As the Attorney General Aaron D Ford office signed a letter claiming that they had nothing to do with it, no state employee was involved in the seizure eviction or foreclosure, the IA internal affairs said non of the men on the video or photos were current employees of the LVMPD CURRENT EMPLOYEES!

Key themes:

- Overlapping institutional roles
- Ownership vs servicing confusion
- Debanking and financial restriction patterns Conclusion: Patterns, when recognized, shift response from reaction to strategy.

Chapter 6 — Rebuilding Independent Systems

This chapter introduces the concept of rebuilding through community, trust, and cooperation.

We had to move several times while pursuing the insurance policy as policy holding investors whom flipped flopped like a fish out of water. While waiting on the insurance money which turned into a debt and a levy, we reinvested in ourselves, with help from my mother Brenda Joyce and older sister Cheryl Latrice, we were able to stabilize, my great uncle Marvin Edwards whom left me $50,000.00.

We invested in my wife website and her health and wellness company, she found work in Tennessee where we moved to in 2024 leaving Florida behind, I didn't like the rain storms hurricanes and floods having a recording studio you don't want to be near water period.

I was able to take that and invest into crypto the blockchain working with THE ARC GROUP whom educated people on how to invest set up you hard wallets etc,... from having interference from Kraken whom appears to have a relationship with the Proxy War against me they simply tried reporting private information, closed my business account then tried to pretend that I never opened the account. Began asking for private personal information that was not required to use Kraken to transfer funds to and from my bank account that was added two years after they asked me for the information.

We also established an international Court called the Consular Court Tribunal [Beit LIYehudah Ne'emanut Keren] Foundation for indigenous aboriginal people around the world they can file foreign judgments around the world based on foreign Judgments acts.

I can't count on one hand how many people helped me get back on my feet but that's a good thing because when you come into wealth that's less hands to poke you. None the less I admire and was inspired by the challenged the hard part for everyone on the opposite side causing the Proxy War when the karma hits them how will they handle it? Many can not take what they dished out, they love being on the sending side but the receiving side makes people unstable more unstable than what they appear to be. Now I'm looking at buying and calling home overseas like I said when my ship sails east

Now I am not attached nor do I depend on a system and feeds off the people, I do not participate in the self hate manipulation depopulation sickness and diseases, jabs and shots and bowing down to a broken falling self destruct system that has an expropriation date created on its own,... Judge not less you judge for the same measure you use on others will be brought to you for judgment.

Key themes:

- Trade and barter
- Credit unions and cooperative systems
- Trust as infrastructure

Conclusion:

The future is built through aligned communities, not dependency.

Chapter 7 — Identity, Structure, and Control

This chapter explains the importance of structure in financial and legal identity.

When you are going through your challenges never respond emotionally, this is the trick, your being set up. What ever you say or do can be used against you in a Court of Law, well that means even the truth can be used against you, just twisted and darkened so be mindful of what you say how you respond. We had to deal with a hit and run. After State Farm defaulted in the Consular Court Tribunal 13 on September 13, 2025, on September 15, 2025 7:45 am my cohort was stalked and hit in our 2015 KIA. The perpetrator took the shoulder on the freeway to get to her then he backed up then sped forward to ram her in the rear.

The truck rear bumper was damaged. The ADR system caught the driver plates but the insurance company whom are playing their part in the Proxy War chose to withhold the information, in fact they held to car in a unknown parking lot for four [4] months from September 15, 2025 to January 12, 2026. They returned the car without the rear bumper bumper cover lights and ADR box along with the tire jack and spare tire. They claimed we needed to do a EUO examination under oath and tried lying to make us do a EUO including me, and I was not in the car. The set up Proxy part....

They said that the real Owen or the title and lien was Ally Bank well that was a lie Ally Bank and their 5 total default judgments were fake, one rubber stamped, another rubber stamped by a assistant clerk, another one blank another one with MONICA RENEE HALL a army reserves private, and one blank no signature now this came one year later after a foreign judgment signed and stamped in their courts by the clerk of the court and the writ of execution was served December 22, 2022 approximately. My strength and power comes from faith which is in definition confidence. My knowledge pushed me forward, as they planned to attack to prevent being exposed as frauds.

Staying true to myself and my purpose I was able to escape not run not hide but escape the traps and tricks using my identity and private information to obtain American Express credit cards and other forms of banking cards. They also used AI to imitate my voice to create accounts and contact people we were doing business with to sabotage those relationships, they even contacted family around the Americas making up fake accounts but this did not deter me, it made me focus, I was determined to maintain and regain and elevate and that comes with focus. When you are in a proxy war caused by Corporations and Banks remember to document video tape storage backup email send this to friends family that can be trusted not to people whom are shaky and are doubled minded.

Key themes:

- Trust structures
- Role clarity (trustee, beneficiary)
- Documentation and control

Conclusion:

Clarity of structure leads to clarity of control.

Chapter 8 — The Tax Incident and Workplace Financial Interference

This chapter documents a tax-related dispute involving employment and withholding irregularities. Personal information was stolen by and from the place of employment. Her boss whom originally signed her up under her trust name and exempt status tax exempted. Five years later he reneged and began working with the Proxy War team. This man her employer whom later lost his job and was fired, United Healthcare Robert McBeth LLP or such the like changed from Robert McBeath. On November 21, 2021 his headquarters emailed a letter from Minintonka Minnesota forged a fake letter from the IRS claiming that my cohort was not exempt from taxes now we lived in a state Nevada that was not a tax state, as well all or any Major Files with the IRS any and all contracts void and canceled

as of 2008. So where did he get this from?

It appears that someone Esq Lukas Sosnicki made contact with the employer via the law firm Aldridge Pite llp aka Aldridge Pite Haan LLP whom had more than 4-6 attorneys stalking and following. They had people inside the police department, they tried deleting the police reports but we got those backed up too.

There was no Tax Court records for this letter no record within the IRS system just strange people whom barely spoke English more over their Mandarin was pretty good, but they couldn't understand me nor I them. The call was recored and will be posted online with the other evidence. Also the letters that came from the alleged IRS agents Kenneth Moon whom later changed his name to Kenneth Mun and a CK O'neal. They never responded to our calls just sent letters which made no sense at all. The letters were about the Trust names but not our names. As of 2022 the employer took stole $104,000.00 out of my cohorts paycheck without a trace as to where it went.

The idea that a workplace would interfere with my paycheck that was coordinated by the proxy war crew amazes me. The set up backfired... They also did a process service at the employers address claiming that they served a Monica Renee Hall army reserve private by leaving the envelope with the receptionist whom told the Consular Court via Affidavit that no one named Monica Renee Hall worked at the location and if he had a different name she would accept the envelope if that person named was presently employed.

Now remember just two years ago at a employee Christmas party Robert McBeath aka McBeth approached me shook my hand never said a word just smiled and a Dr. Ore stood at his side I never said a word never introduced himself or the other guy around him they just smiled like a stalking vampire and the employees said how do you know

Key themes:

- Internal vs official communication discrepancies
- Verification with IRS
- Financial impact exceeding $100,000

Conclusion:

Verification is essential in complex systems.

Chapter 9 — The Manufactured Case and the Invisible Hand

This chapter examines legal irregularities in court filings and foreclosure actions.

With multiple case filings, and our clear identity the trust trustees and executors many of the Courts afterward would change the captions in the case headings, renaming the case altering the case numbers, filing multiple cases using the Courts to attack and destroy a Corporate Proxy War they wanted so they created. This was done under the guidance of the Person[s] originally sued by the Estate[s]. What they wanted to do was to force us to not defend our estates money wealth identity.

A letter appeared at one of the PMB's from the federal agency FINRA. The case was dismissed due to not having enough Arbitrator's, for over a year they couldn't get more than two all we needed was three to adjudicate the matter and have a hearing. They refunded my payment of $2500 and in the letter it said, we need to dismiss the case before someone gets hurt. Now I took that personal because that was a threat.

Not only that the reason why we filed in FINRA was due to the Bond stolen by JPMorgan Chase aka Chase Bank Bear Stearns Inc. They used their internal connections to scare off Arbitrators block them and delay by doing such they could prevent me from getting my money from the $10,000,000.00 bond. They would alter the case from inside the agency and pretend not to have three Arbitrators to move forward which is odd. I met people whom sat on the board or were Arbitrators for FINRA and they said they could've moved forward with just two didnt need all three.

Key themes:

- Lack of case assignment clarity
- Conflicting ownership claims
- Service of process inconsistencies

Conclusion:

Authority without origin raises critical questions.

Chapter 10 — The Illusion of Authority: Proxy War Execution

This chapter connects IRS, insurance, and financial pressure into a multi-front pattern.

Key themes:

- Dichotomy illusion (criminal vs victim)
- Insurance claim suppression
- Coordinated pressure across systems

Within their Proxy War they would use the identities of the agencies such as FINRA, Federal Court, Ninth Circuit Court, State Courts police sheriff, Constable Judges etc,.. This would put the fear of God in most people, cause you to turn and run and put a bigger target on your back by doing so. See a bully will attack people whom are afraid of them. If you run from them and dont stand, or lets say if you have nothing in order, no records no proof no witnesses they will try to destroy you physically not just mentally.,

When the bad actors come they act as if they are the authority not knowing they are being watched. When they set up their Proxy to take both homes and the car I remembered that we had insurance policies, this gave me some peace but not 100 % surety but enough to think my way though to gather documents and remember... Key is remembering things under pressure stress. They would use things like Community Apps like the neighborhood app make false claims then delete them. Try to get you into a online war so they can set you up. They tried planting guns and drugs in our home caught on camera, so much was filmed or video footage they went into the cable connection outside the home and ripped out the wiring in the ground.

They would post things on X twitter Facebook and the nextdoor app claiming we were criminals squatting in our homes that we were drug dealers. While they had people walking around the home calling out to us outside stalking waiting in cars watching the house no matter if we saw them or not they would remain.

The idea was to create a narrative make us look like criminals and run with their partners in the Proxy war be it bad actors police sheriff etc,.. While trying to get stuff from the home on June 6, 2023 they blocked us in the driveway claimed we pulled a gun out on them and called the police the neighbors watching as three to four cars sat surrounding our truck sitting in the driveway claiming we attacked them with a gun, they tried to get me shot by claiming a BLACK MAN has a GUN now we know how that ends in most cases but not mine. When we shared this with FBI reports and the so called anti terrorist division LVMPD all they wanted to talk about was the HOA and how they are crooked. Yeah we know we watched them protect a Drug house directly behind us that got raided in 2020 and again in 2021. Once this drug house was busted and closed there was another home in 2021 that was raided They called him a muslim who they alleged he was holding his family in his home hostage. They took his home too just one year before. It is apparently they are playing police while only being HOA gardening persons.

Conclusion: Systems can enforce narratives instead of truth.

Chapter 11 — The Break-In, Asset Stripping, and Final Escalation

This chapter documents physical intrusion and asset loss. Vampires flying over their blood banks in fraud and how people voluntarily participate therein fraud actions making themselves criminals.

Key themes:

- Missing safes and documents
- Vehicle tampering
- Surveillance patterns

When they broke into my homes and began to access what was valuable this made them react in violence hatred and anger. How could a man [master able and noble] obtain so much without being in our systems, the key is information knowledge and then wisdom, wisdom is knowledge applied. When you move on the word for that WORD is GOD you are being led by light internally. The worlds systems dont understand that, they only understand what they created, how it works and nothing outside of that. If anyone or anything comes outside their systems they file that as a threat. Then they attack. See when I chose to send them notice that I wasn't playing their game nor am I their property nor am I a citizen they reacted like animals.

They wanted me to break down shut up go away and they would keep watch of me my moves and how I did what I did... I began in the 1990s to document record and be aware of my money credit image likeness creations music art etc,... this is all documented. Now remember earlier in the chapters I told you how my home in Southfield Michigan burned down and the papers computers hard drives studio etc,... went up in flames but I had backups, files documents instruments and a SDB safe deposit box around the corner at Comerica Bank which I was mentored by Warren the banks manager how to secure my own future, this was awesome. He showed me how to save money and how to never spend it but invest in myself over and over again duplicating the process.

For example when I made money I would bring it to the bank exchange lower bills for higher bills then place it in the SDB. When I looked up three years later I was scared, I had saved over $2,000,000.00. I would invest this money in bad investments outside of myself as mentioned earlier in the book with foreign banks because I had no idea that they were not truly regulated but just criminals.

Conclusion: When conflict becomes physical, strategy must shift.

I began to record document place liens on banks after learning all of this. They hated me for this, they continued to attack. Example... The proxy works when multiple banks corporations law firms and agents from within Municipalities work together. They use the sleight of hand. I didn't see anything, or files go missing, or they get hacked and files are abstracted or misused as

Chapter 12 — Conflicting Claims of Ownership and Servicing Authority (Expanded)

Introduction

As the record developed, another layer of conflict became clear: Entities appeared in positions of authority after the underlying obligation had already been satisfied, raising serious questions about the legitimacy of those claims. This was not limited to ownership. It extended into servicing authority, where entities with no visible connection to the original transaction began asserting control.

The Timeline Conflict

The sequence is critical: 2004 — Property reported paid in full through Bank of America 2008 — JPMorgan Chase claims acquisition of assets from Washington Mutual (WaMu) 2016 — Select Portfolio Servicing (SPS) appears as a servicing entity connected to the same property.

The Core Question

How does a servicer appear on an account that had already been satisfied over a decade earlier? If: the obligation was paid no active loan existed no servicing agreement was in place Then: What exactly is being serviced?

Servicing Without Origin

Select Portfolio Servicing appeared in the legal matter as a servicer. However: no direct contract with the Trust was established no clear assignment chain connected SPS to the original lender no documentation showed how servicing rights transferred.

Layered Claims At the same time: JPMorgan Chase asserted authority through WaMu acquisition WaMu statements indicated no confirmed transfer of the specific asset SPS appeared as servicer years later, without documented entry point

The Pattern This creates a layered conflict: Ownership claim through acquisition Servicing claim without visible assignment No clear chain connecting either to the original obligation

Legal Framing "Servicing authority must derive from a valid and documented chain of assignment connected to an existing obligation. Where the underlying obligation has been satisfied, and no such chain is established, the basis for servicing activity becomes subject to question."

The Trust Position The property was held within: The Estate Trust, BT David Jr. Hall Estate Trust, BT Yet: actions were directed outside the Trust structure claims were made without alignment to the actual holding entity

The Proxy Effect Expands At this point, the pattern extended beyond a single institution: banks asserting ownership servicers asserting control legal entities asserting enforcement municipal actors applying pressure.

Direct Statement

"When an obligation is paid, ownership cannot be recreated through later claims, and servicing cannot exist without a valid instrument to service." Conclusion This is not presented as theory. It is a sequence: paid obligation later claims new entities introduced authority asserted without clear origin

Closing Line "You cannot service what no longer exists. You cannot claim what was never transferred. And you cannot enforce what you cannot prove." Rather with a Corporate Proxy War against men and women unknowingly under duress and seemingly getting the runaround and red tape use the wrong language "RACISM" when it is simply fraud unfair lending practices, identity theft etc,... the list is long.

"Access, Identity, and Financial Systems" How Access Is Granted In modern systems, employers, banks, and institutions require documents such as: Social Security numbers (SSNs) birth certificates (BCs) government-issued identification These are used to: verify identity report income and taxes open and manage accounts comply with federal regulations.

What These Documents Actually Do

These documents do not transfer ownership of a person's identity or assets. Instead, they allow institutions to: identify an individual within a system report financial activity (such as wages or interest) comply with laws like tax reporting and anti-fraud rules. This is different from pecuniary compensation or actual trade energy and transferring or bartering one thing for another. If a company needs your skills make sure you delegate terms that benefit you, many will not be able to do your skill set notice I didn't say job or work, SKILL SET.... So why not request it in writing and leave out the other papers where they are truly gaining credit for your skills?

Where Confusion Can Arise

Because systems rely heavily on these identifiers: multiple institutions can access or report information tied to the same identity financial activity can be tracked across different entities individuals may feel they are not in direct control of how their information is used This can create the perception that: access to identity equals access to assets.

Clarifying the Financial Structure It's important to distinguish between: credit reporting systems (which track borrowing and repayment history) bank accounts (which hold deposited funds) tax reporting systems (which record income and obligations) These systems are connected—but they are not the same as a hidden personal account controlled by others.

The Real Issue: Control and Transparency The stronger point—and the one that matters—is this: Individuals often have limited visibility into how their financial data is shared, reported, and interpreted across systems. That lack of transparency can lead to: disputes, errors, conflicting records, difficulty, correcting problems. “Modern financial systems rely on identity documents to grant access and track activity. However, the widespread use of these identifiers across multiple institutions can create a disconnect between the individual and the systems operating in their name, especially when transparency and control are limited.”

“Access to identity should not mean loss of control. But without visibility, the line between the two can become unclear.” “Money, Credit, and the Flow of Value” Where Do “Billions” Come From? Financial institutions report large profits each quarter. Those profits generally come from: interest on loans (mortgages, auto loans, credit cards) fees (servicing, underwriting, transactions) trading and investment gains services (asset management, payments, custody) At a system level, this value ultimately traces back to household and business activity—people working, borrowing, spending, and saving. The system aggregates many small flows of value into large reported earnings. Credit vs. Money (What's the Difference?) In modern economies, most dollars are bank deposits created when banks make loans. That's often described as credit money. Credit (bank deposits): Created when a bank issues a loan; circulates as digital balances. Cash (Federal Reserve notes): Physical currency used as legal tender.

Legal Tender

Under U.S. law, U.S. coins and currency are legal tender for all debts, public charges, taxes, and dues (31 U.S.C. § 5103). Gold & Silver The Constitution mentions coinage: Article I, Section 8 →

Congress coins money and regulates its value Article I, Section 10 → States may not make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts. Today, the U.S. operates on a fiat currency system (not backed by gold or silver), and bank deposits (credit) make up most of the money people use day-to-day. Why People Feel the System Is Unstable During stress periods (e.g., 2008), several things can happen: Credit tightens → harder to borrow Asset prices fall → homes, stocks Interest rates move → affecting payments and savings Confidence drops → less spending and hiring This can feel like “money disappearing,” but what’s changing is: the availability of credit the valuation of assets the risk appetite of lenders and investors.

Savings, Banks, and Risk When people deposit funds in banks: banks use deposits (along with other funding) to make loans and investments deposits are typically insured up to limits by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) for member banks banks must follow capital and liquidity rules. Deposits are not the same as cash in a vault; they are part of a larger system that creates and allocates credit. Cycles and “Calling In” Credit In downturns, institutions may: reduce lending tighten underwriting restructure or collect on loans That can feel like credit is being “called in.” The effect is: less circulating credit pressure on businesses and jobs. Diversification and Financial Awareness Given these dynamics, individuals often protect themselves by: diversifying assets (cash, equities, bonds, real assets) maintaining liquidity (emergency funds) understanding debt terms (rates, resets, covenants) learning how different systems work (banking, markets, payments) Gold, Silver, and Alternatives Some people value precious metals because they: are tangible are not dependent on a single institution have a long history as stores of value.

Others participate in digital assets and payment networks. These come with: new opportunities new risks (volatility, security, regulation)

Closing Reflection

“Value moves through systems—sometimes visibly, sometimes not. Understanding the difference between money, credit, and risk doesn’t remove uncertainty... but it changes how you prepare for it.” “Power, Participation, and the System”

Introduction

By the end of this account, one theme becomes clear: People interact with systems that feel larger than them—financial, legal, and administrative—and those systems can be difficult to question or exit. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is a bureau of the U.S. Department of the Treasury that administers federal tax laws. The Federal Reserve System (the Fed) is the nation's central bank; it is independent in its policy decisions but was created by Congress. Commercial banks (e.g., JPMorgan Chase) operate under U.S. law and regulation, even when they have international operations or affiliates. These entities are connected through law and finance—but they are not the same organization, and they play different roles. Now this is a voluntary system, you especially aboriginal indigenous people men women do not have to participate in this system, we have our own, now we know what they did to Tulsa and many other so called BLACK WALL STREET firms operations we created but we cannot live in the past we must move on.

Taxes and Forms (What They Mean)

Forms like the 1040 are used to report income and calculate taxes under federal law. They are not contracts that transfer ownership of a person; they are reporting tools used within the tax system. Disputes can arise about how income is classified, what is owed, and how records are handled—but the mechanism itself is statutory. Credit, Currency, and Perception Modern economies use a mix of: bank deposits (credit) created through lending currency (notes and coins) used as legal tender Because much of the system is credit-based, it can feel like: value is abstract control is distant outcomes are driven by institutions rather than individuals. That perception is amplified during downturns, when: credit tightens assets lose value access becomes constrained

Global Shifts

Around the world, countries are exploring alternatives and adjustments in trade and settlement systems (often discussed in the context of groupings like “BRICS”). These developments reflect changing strategies—not a single switch or immediate replacement of existing systems.

The Real Pressure Point The strongest point isn't that systems exist—it's how participation happens: People need identification to work and bank Employers and banks must follow reporting rules Errors, disputes, or overlapping claims can create real harm When records, roles, or authority are unclear, the burden often falls on the individual to sort it out. See gaps in documentation multiple entities acting at once pressure across legal, financial, and administrative fronts.

Final Words

“Power isn’t just in the rules—it’s in how the rules are applied, recorded, and enforced. Systems can feel overwhelming, but understanding how they operate changes how you move within them.”

Chapter 13 — Identity, Records, and Control

Introduction - Beyond property, banking, and legal disputes, another layer sits underneath it all: Identity—how a person is recognized within a system. Modern systems rely heavily on documents to establish identity, access, and participation.

How Identity Is Documented - In the United States, identity is typically established through a combination of records, including: birth certificates Social Security numbers (SSNs) government-issued IDs These records are: created and maintained by government agencies used to verify identity for employment, banking, and legal purposes. Records vs. the Individual It’s important to understand the distinction: Records are representations used within systems Individuals are the people those records refer to. No single document—on its own—fully captures a person’s identity. Instead, systems use multiple forms of verification.

Biometric Identification

In certain contexts—such as law enforcement processing — biometric data may be collected: fingerprints photographs sometimes other identifiers. These methods are used because they are: difficult to duplicate directly linked to a person’s physical characteristics

Why This Matters

When interacting with large systems: identity is often reduced to documentation access depends on those records being accepted errors or mismatches can create serious consequences This can lead to situations where: the record becomes the focus, rather than the individual behind it

Control and Awareness

Understanding how identity is recorded and used helps individuals: verify their records correct inaccuracies manage how they engage with systems It also reinforces an important principle: Participation in a system involves agreeing to its methods of identification and verification.

Closing Reflection

This chapter is not about rejecting systems. It is about understanding them. Because once you understand: how identity is recorded how it is verified how it is used You are in a stronger position to: navigate question and respond when inconsistencies arise.

Final Words (End of Part One)

“A system can only act on what it recognizes. But recognition is not the same as reality. And once you understand the difference... you move differently.” They keep you looped in a system that is predictable and easy to control for the rich or those implementing their ideas for billions of people. This is okay if you are used to it and don't have plans to be free or to think for yourself, and you can't blame AI this is set up and the so called new world order is in play and has been for over 100 years.

The Definition of a Corporate Proxy War

I. The Term “Proxy War” (General Meaning) Traditionally, a proxy war is understood as: A conflict where opposing forces do not engage each other directly, but instead operate through third parties, intermediaries, or external actors to achieve their objectives. Instead of: direct confrontation there is: indirect pressure layered involvement deniability of intent

II. The Expanded Meaning — Corporate Proxy War

In the context of modern financial and institutional systems, the term can be defined as:

A Corporate Proxy War is a pattern of coordinated or overlapping actions carried out by multiple independent entities—such as financial institutions, legal representatives, administrative bodies, and service providers—that collectively produce sustained pressure against a target without a single identifiable controlling actor.

III. Key Characteristics

A Corporate Proxy War is not defined by a single act.

It is defined by a pattern.

1. Multi-Entity Involvement

Banks, Servicers, Insurance companies, Law firms, Government agencies, Contractors or vendors
Each plays a different role.

2. Indirect Action

No single entity appears to: initiate the full conflict, control the entire process. Instead: each action appears isolated, but the cumulative effect is continuous

3. Layered Authority

Different entities claim authority through: contracts, servicing rights, legal filings, administrative actions However: the origin of that authority is often unclear or disputed.

4. Procedural Complexity

The system becomes difficult to navigate due to: multiple jurisdictions, overlapping filings, varying roles of parties. This complexity: shifts the burden onto the individual to respond across multiple fronts

5. Deniability

Because actions are distributed: no single entity can be easily identified as the source

each entity can claim: limited involvement, reliance on another party

IV. How It Happens

A Corporate Proxy War develops through stages:

Stage 1 — Entry Point

An initial event occurs: property dispute, financial transaction, insurance claim, employment or tax issue.

Stage 2 — Expansion

Additional entities appear: servicers, legal representatives, third-party vendors. Each introduces: new claims, new procedures, new obligations.

Stage 3 — Overlap

Multiple actions occur simultaneously: legal filings, financial restrictions, administrative requirements. The target must now respond to: multiple systems at once.

Stage 4 — Pressure

The cumulative effect creates: financial strain, procedural confusion, time and resource exhaustion.

Stage 5 — Escalation

The situation may extend into: asset interference, enforcement actions, physical or logistical disruption.

V. Why It Happens

A Corporate Proxy War may arise due to:

1. System Design

Modern systems are: decentralized, interconnected, reliant on multiple entities. This structure allows: actions to occur across different actors without centralized coordination.

2. Risk Distribution

Institutions distribute: liability, responsibility, decision-making. Across multiple parties.

3. Information Gaps

When: records are incomplete, ownership is unclear, authority is disputed, multiple entities may act based on: partial or inconsistent information.

4. Incentive Structures

Each entity may be motivated by: financial gain, contractual obligation, internal policy.

VI. Why It Feels Personal

Even when actions are not centrally directed: the cumulative effect is experienced by a single individual or entity This creates the perception of: targeting coordination intentional pressure Because: all actions converge on the same point.

VII. Application to the EI Family

Within this account, the pattern included: multiple financial institutions asserting claims servicers appearing without clear origin legal proceedings across jurisdictions administrative and workplace conflicts insurance disputes physical interference Individually: each event may be explained Collectively: they form a consistent pattern of pressure across systems

VIII. Final Definition

“A Corporate Proxy War is not defined by a single actor, but by the convergence of actions from multiple entities that, together, produce sustained and compounded pressure on a single target across legal, financial, and administrative systems.”

Closing Line

“It is not always the hand you see that applies pressure— but the system of hands moving at once.” “Power, Systems, and the Fear of Change” The Core Concern

At the center of many conflicts is a deeper belief:

That systems resist change—especially when that change threatens how power has traditionally been organized. Throughout history, shifts in power—economic, social, or political—have often been met with: resistance instability increased scrutiny competing narratives

Why Systems Resist

Large systems—financial, legal, or institutional—are built over time. They are designed to: maintain order manage risk preserve continuity But they also develop: inertia self-protection mechanisms This can create tension when: individuals or groups operate outside expected patterns.

Periods of Instability

When systems face stress—economic downturns, policy shifts, or global change—several things often increase: disputes fraud and scams financial pressure uncertainty. These are not necessarily coordinated events, but they can feel overwhelming when experienced at the same time. Perception vs. Verified Fact It's important to distinguish between: verified evidence interpretation or belief

For example:

Public health measures, including COVID-19 vaccines, have been studied extensively. There is no verified evidence that vaccines contain tracking chips or embedded devices. Separating what is confirmed from what is uncertain helps maintain credibility and clarity.

The Real Risk: Disconnection

The strongest, most grounded concern is this: Many people feel disconnected from the systems that affect their lives. This can lead to: mistrust confusion vulnerability to misinformation difficulty navigating institutions.

The Illusion of Stability

Modern systems can give the appearance of stability through: access to goods access to credit access to services But during times of change, those same systems can: tighten access shift policies expose underlying weaknesses

Awareness as Protection

The answer is not fear. The answer is awareness. Understanding: how systems work where risks exist what is documented vs. assumed puts individuals in a stronger position.

“Power does not only exist in systems—it exists in understanding them.
And when understanding increases, control shifts.”

The Final Position

By now, the pattern is no longer hidden. It has been: documented, experienced, observed across systems, And what was once dismissed as isolated...has revealed itself as structured pressure. The Reality - Systems do not always announce themselves as oppressive. They present as: opportunity, structure, order. But over time, they may reveal: dependency imbalance control through complexity. The Turning Point. The shift does not happen when systems fall. It happens when: people begin to see clearly Because once seen: confusion dissolves fear weakens position strengthens. The Message to Those in Power. This is where your tone lands strong—not reckless, but undeniable: “You built systems to manage people. But people were never meant to be managed—only to be understood. And what is understood can no longer be quietly controlled.”

FINAL, FINAL WORDS

“I AM the Word. From the Word comes thought. From thought comes action. From action comes power. And from power—wealth is formed.” “He who knows the Word within himself holds the key to all dominion.” “It is the Word—spoken, known, and lived—that gives power to create wealth. Not systems. Not permission. But the knowing of self.”

Closing Prayer — “Sealed in Truth”

We are past the warning. The truth stands on its own. Let every false word spoken against me fall away and return to silence. Let every structure built on deception reveal itself and collapse under its own weight. Let what is hidden be brought to light. Let what is misaligned be corrected. May every action find its rightful consequence, and every word be measured by truth. I stand in clarity. I stand in peace. I stand in what is mine by right and by record. No confusion attaches to me. No false claim holds me. No unjust action defines me. What was meant for harm dissolves. What is mine remains. What is true endures. I am steady. I am protected. I am established. It is done in truth. It is sealed in order. And what is aligned cannot be undone.

“Truth does not need force. It only needs time—and it always stands.”
